16th WEIMAR OPTIMIZATION AND STOCHASTIC DAYS 2019

From June 6 – 7, 2019, Dynardo will host the 16th conference for CAE-based parametric optimization, stochastic analysis and Robust Design Optimization (RDO).

What is WOST?

In recent years, Dynardo has established the Weimar Optimization and Stochastic Days (WOST) as a conference promoting successful applications of CAE-based RDO. The steadily growing number of interested participants indicates the importance and potential of this methodology. The conference gives visitors a platform to talk about their experiences in applying parametric optimization and stochastic analysis. Service providers present their innovations and scientific research institutions also inform about state-of-the-art RDO applications.

What is your benefit?

Are you a hardware or software company from the CAE environment or do you provide computing services and want to present your products individually? The conference offers your company the best opportunity to show your innovations and discuss the added value and challenges of CAE-based optimization and stochastic analysis with potential customers.

CADFEM®

CADFEM GmbH has been supporting the WOST-Conference since its start in 2004:

„As a long-standing sponsor, exhibitor and technology partner of the Weimar Optimization and Stochastic Days, we would like to recommend this event to all service providers in the field of CAE-based product development as a perfect exhibitor and information platform“
